| Description of Activity |  |
1. IMGs on pathway to Fellowship by Examination are strongly encouraged to participate in educational opportunities to prepare for the Fellowship Examination.
2. IMGs should be familiar with the requirements and conduct of the Fellowship Examination. Information regarding the Fellowship Examination is located on the website www.surgeons.org
3. IMGs are directed to the General Surgery Curriculum Modules at www.generalsurgeonsaustralia.com.au so as to become familiar with the examinable content of the General Surgery Fellowship Examination.
4. IMGs are advised to discuss their examination preparation with their Supervisors and, where possible, other surgeons.
5. Educational opportunities may include, but are not confined to, personal study, study group activities, practicing written papers and having these marked, attending consultant led practice viva sessions on pathophysiology, operative management and surgical anatomy, practicing clinical vivas under supervision, attending tutorials and participating in an examination preparation course. Many educational opportunities exist in the workplace, which may be facilitated by Supervisors and other surgeons. IMGs are expected to take the initiative to develop a personalised examination preparation schedule.
6. IMGs are required to summarise activities undertaken towards preparing for the Fellowship Examination during each 3-month term in this logbook.
